

Module-4

Q.1 What are the main factors that can affect PPC bidding?

Ans:-

1. Keyword Competition

More advertisers bidding on the same keyword = higher cost.
For example, “buy insurance online” will cost way more than “affordable car insurance for students.”

2. Quality Score (Very Important)

Platforms like Google Ads reward relevance. Your Quality Score is based on:

- Click-through rate (CTR)
- Ad relevance
- Landing page experience

Higher Quality Score = lower cost per click + better ad positions.

3. Match Type

How tightly your keyword matches the search:

- Broad match → more reach, often higher cost
- Phrase match → balanced
- Exact match → more control, usually cheaper and higher intent

4. Audience Targeting

Bidding changes based on who you target:

- Location
- Device (mobile vs desktop)
- Age, gender, interests
- Remarketing audiences

High-value audiences usually cost more—but convert better.

5. Time & Day (Ad Scheduling)

Certain hours and days have heavier competition.

Example: B2B keywords cost more during business hours, less at night or weekends.

6. Device Type

Mobile and desktop bids can differ:

- Mobile clicks are often cheaper
- Desktop users may convert better (depends on industry)

7. Industry & Market Trends

Some industries are naturally expensive:

- Finance
- Insurance
- Legal
- Real estate

Seasonal demand (sales, festivals, launches) can spike bids fast.

8. Bidding Strategy

Manual vs automated bidding matters:

- Manual CPC → full control
- Maximize Clicks / Conversions → AI adjusts bids based on likelihood to convert
- Target CPA / ROAS → focuses on profitability, not just clicks

9. Landing Page Quality

Slow, irrelevant, or confusing landing pages increase bounce rate → lower Quality Score → higher CPC.

10. Budget & Account History

- Small budgets can limit competitiveness
- Older, well-optimized accounts often get better performance at lower costs

Q.2 How does a search engine calculate actual CPC?

Ans:-

In Google Ads, Actual Cost Per Click (CPC) is calculated through an ad auction system. Advertisers do not pay their maximum bid. Instead, they pay the minimum amount required to maintain their ad position over the next competitor.

Formula used by Google Ads:

Actual CPC = (Ad Rank of the advertiser below you ÷ Your Quality Score) + 0.01

Key components involved

1. Maximum Bid

The highest amount an advertiser is willing to pay for a click.

2. Quality Score

A relevance score based on:

- Expected Click-Through Rate (CTR)
- Ad relevance
- Landing page experience

Higher Quality Score reduces Actual CPC.

3. Ad Rank

Determines ad position and is calculated as:

Ad Rank = Max Bid × Quality Score (plus impact of ad extensions)

Example

- Your Max Bid: ₹50
- Your Quality Score: 10
- Competitor's Ad Rank below you: 400

Actual CPC = $(400 \div 10) + 0.01 = ₹40.01$

Even though your bid was ₹50, you pay only ₹40.01.

Conclusion

Google calculates Actual CPC based on competition and relevance, not just bid amount. Advertisers with higher Quality Scores can achieve better ad positions while paying lower costs per click.

Q.3 What is a quality score and why it is important for Ads?

Ans:-

Quality Score is a metric used by Google Ads to measure how relevant and useful an advertisement is to users. It is scored on a scale of 1 to 10, where a higher score indicates better ad quality and relevance.

Components of Quality Score

Quality Score is based on three main factors:

- 1. Expected Click-Through Rate (CTR)

How likely users are to click your ad.

- 2. Ad Relevance

How closely the ad matches the user's search query.

- 3. Landing Page Experience

The relevance, usefulness, and loading speed of the landing page.

Why Quality Score is important

- 1. Lower Cost Per Click (CPC)

Ads with higher Quality Scores pay less per click.

2. Better Ad Position

Higher Quality Score improves Ad Rank, helping ads appear in top positions.

3. Higher Ad Visibility

Ads with good Quality Scores are more likely to show for relevant searches.

4. Better Return on Investment (ROI)

Lower costs and higher relevance lead to improved campaign performance.

Conclusion

Quality Score is important because it allows advertisers to achieve better ad rankings at lower costs. Google rewards ads that provide relevant and high-quality experiences to users.

The screenshot shows the Google Ads interface. On the left, a sidebar menu is open with options: Campaign, Ad group, Search keywords, Conversion action, and Asset. Below this are links for Billing, Advertiser verification, and Admin. A QR code is displayed with the text: "Scan to download the mobile app and get updates for your campaigns on the go". The main content area is titled "Summary" and shows a date range of "Jan 2 - 24, 2026". It includes a red "Add funds" button, a table for "January (current month)" with columns for "Net cost" and "Payments", both showing "₹0.00". A "View documents" button is also present. At the bottom, a message states: "Your account's so new, you don't have any previous activity yet".

The screenshot shows the "What's your campaign objective?" screen in Google Ads. The heading is "Choose your objective". Below it, a message says: "Select an objective to tailor your experience to the goals and settings that will work best for your campaign". There are seven objective cards displayed in a grid:

- Sales: Drive sales online, in app, by phone, or in store.
- Leads: Get leads and other conversions by encouraging customers to take action.
- Website traffic: Get the right people to visit your website. (This card is highlighted with a blue border and a checkmark icon in the top right corner.)
- App promotion: Get more installs, engagement and pre-registration for your app.
- Awareness and consideration: Reach a broad audience and build interest in your products or brand.
- Local store visits and promotions: Drive visits to local stores, including restaurants and dealerships.
- Create a campaign without guidance: You'll choose a campaign next.
